If the house is open, there will be many "tropical species" visiting us?

Yes, and no, for the simplicity of "what comes in, goes out". Of course, as in every tropical country you might encounter some ants, mosquitoes, frogs, butterflies, and geckos visiting you.

Geckos are small salamanders that you will find in every house in Bali and have become part of the Bali Logo. They live in the roofs and contribute to clean the roofs by eating all kind of mosquitos and small bugs. They are not dangerous in any way and are part of the Bali experience.

Due to the full day employment of housekeeping staff; the rooms are very clean and will almost never show unpleasant bugs.

You can do your own shopping if you prefer to do so, but we recommend you to enjoy your time in other more interesting things and let the staff to do the groceries for you.

Your Cook or your Butler can calculate the price of the groceries depending on your order. You can give them a deposit to do the shopping and later after finishing, they will hand you the receipts and the change with no extra charge.

Do we "tip" the staff every day for everything they do?

There is no need to. They are very used that there will be an appreciation tip at the end of your stay as it is customary in Bali.

You can be sure that all the staff will work very hard and with a generous smile to make your stay in Shalimar Villas an unforgettable experience.

We really encourage you gratifying the staff appropriately before your departure if you were happy with the service received.
